INTRODUCTION.

THIS preliminary Hand-list of books printed in Scotland before 1700 may be considered as a first step towards the realisation of one of the chief objects of the Society, 'the formation of a complete Scottish Bibliography.'

At the meeting of the Society held 12 November 1896, it was resolved that a Bibliographical Catalogue and Hand-list of books printed in Scotland before 1700 should be undertaken, and the work was commenced in the following January.

The scheme adopted provides for the compilation of the Bibliographical Catalogue being carried on concurrently with the preparation of the Hand-list. Each title is entered on a slip $8\frac{1}{4} \times 7$ inches in size, ruled as shewn in the specimen collations on p. xiv. The upper line gives the particulars necessary for the Hand-list; the collation, full title, and other descriptive details are written in the centre space; and the bottom line states on the right the source from which the information has been obtained, and on the left the location of copies. Any note of a book can thus be entered and filed in its proper place, leaving fuller details to be added as opportunity offers; and a reference to the slips will at any time shew what information the Society possesses as to a particular book, and the source from which it has been derived.

The work thus commenced proceeded with more or less interruption until about 3500 titles had been accumulated, when it was felt necessary that a preliminary issue of the Hand-list should be printed, in order to facilitate further progress and co-operation by shewing what titles are still unrecorded or defective.

In this Hand-list now printed, each entry has, so far as possible, been limited to a single line, as being the most convenient form for reference. It gives (1) short title, (2) size, (3) occasional reference to authorities, (4) place, except in the case of Edinburgh, which is omitted, (5) printer, or bookseller for whom the book was printed, (6) indication of a library in which a copy of the work may be found. The mark — prefixed to an entry signifies either that full particulars of the book have been entered on the Society's slips, or that a copy is accessible in some public library. Of those not so marked, full particulars and record of a copy is desired.

The information contained in the List has been collected from so many varied and often defective sources, that it has been impossible to preserve entire uniformity in the treatment of the entries. The titles are entered under the author's name, or, in the case of anonymous works, under the first word of the title, omitting articles. Almanacs have been placed under the date of imprint, though in most instances they were doubtless actually printed in the previous year. Acts of Parliament, of Privy Council, and of other authorities have been placed under the heading Act or Acts in the respective years; and Proclamations have been similarly grouped under that heading. It should be borne in mind that proclamations issued through the Privy Council often bear two dates, that of the royal signature and that of the confirmation by the Privy Council. Investigation as to the authorship of anonymous books has not been attempted, and the usual ascriptions have been accepted for the purposes of the List. The description of the sizes of books below octavo cannot always be relied upon, as in many cases it has been derived from a catalogue and not from the book itself; s.sh. has for a similar reason been adopted as a comprehensive term for prints consisting of a single sheet of paper of whatever size.

The List might have been considerably increased by the admission of many pamphlets and sheets issued without imprint which were very possibly printed in Scotland, but it has been deemed advisable to include only such of these as shew some definite indication of Scottish origin. These doubtful pamphlets are most numerous about 1638, and during the critical period between 1688 and 1690. Certain other books, such as the Complaynt of Scotland, formerly attributed to a Scottish press, but now generally considered to have a foreign origin, have also been omitted.

The limitation of the entries to one line each has naturally necessitated the omission of many details of bibliographical and literary interest, but fuller descriptions of a number of the books will be found in Messrs Dickson and Edmond's Annals of Scottish Printing, Mr Edmond's Aberdeen Printers, and in some of the Society's Papers, particularly Mr Scott's Queen Mary Bibliography, Mr Johnston's Bibliography of the Darien Scheme, and Mr Cowan's monograph of the Holyrood Press. References to the books described in the Annals have been given in each case, and it is a noteworthy tribute to this work, that since its publication in 1890, only 30 additions have been made to the number of books recorded in it.

The brief notices which form the Alphabetical List of Printers, Booksellers, and Stationers, do not profess to represent an exhaustive search, but are mainly the outcome of notes and information accumulated during the progress of the Hand-list, the result of which it seemed desirable to place on record. Many of the statements and conclusions are necessarily tentative, but it is hoped that the notes may serve as a basis for further research. So many of the printers and booksellers were also bookbinders that it has not been thought necessary to indicate the fact in each case.

The Index must be regarded as merely a finding list, as the brevity of the titles in the List does not admit of their being so fully indexed as in the case of an extended bibliography. But under such headings as Almanacs, Newspapers, and Theses will be found suggestive groups in the study of Scottish bibliography.

It is not possible here to enter into any general sketch of the history of printing in Scotland, or to touch upon the many subjects suggested by the List. The isolated position of the Scottish press, pursuing its unambitious course unaffected by outside influences, renders it an interesting study in the history of typography. The succession of presses and handing down of type and ornaments from one printer to another can be traced in unbroken continuity for more than a century, with an occasional influx of fresh type and ornaments as a new printer appears upon the scene. A good example of this continuity will be found in the small device of John Ross (†1580), which with other materials was acquired by Henry Charteris, and after being used by Waldegrave, passed successively through the hands of Finlason, Young, G. Anderson, A. Anderson, and as late as 1699 appeared in the edition of Montgomery's The Cherrie and the Slae printed by Anderson's Heirs and Successors. The quartering of the royal arms after the union of the crowns will often be a guide in determining the typographical origin of anonymously printed books. I do not remember a single instance of a block used by a Scottish printer in which the arms were quartered otherwise than Scotland 1st and 4th. It may be further noted that any variation in the spelling of Edinburgh is to be looked upon with suspicion.

The temptation to generalise from the List upon the state of literature and the extent and kind of books circulated in Scotland must also be put aside, for it would be unsafe to form conclusions on these matters without taking into consideration both the large number of books of Scottish authorship printed abroad, and the books by English and foreign authors imported and dispersed throughout the country. Of the first of these classes of books a list is still a desideratum, but of the importation of books and the method of their distribution we get a suggestive glimpse in the inventories of the booksellers, some of which enumerate the titles of many popular works and indicate that they were stocked in considerable numbers. The name of a London stationer among the creditors occasionally points to one of the main sources of supply ; while the frequent occurrence of ' chopman ' (chapman) in the list of debtors, suggests one of the channels through which the books found their way into the hands of their readers. In the statement that the ' haill librarie and books ' of Thomas Lawson (see p. 116), who died in 1645, were ' sold and roupeit,' we have, I think, an earlier instance of the sale of books by auction than has hitherto been noted in either Scotland or England.

The total number of titles recorded (3919) must but imperfectly represent the whole output of the Scottish press during the period. Without doubt no inconsiderable part has entirely perished ; but it is hoped that the issue of this List will result in a large addition to the number of recorded works ; and it is requested that in furtherance of this object, notes of new titles and corrections of errors may be sent either to me or to the Honorary Secretary of the Society, 33 George Street, Edinburgh. Such note should always state the source of information or the authority for the correction. As explained above, full titles and collations are also desired of those books to which the mark — is not prefixed in the List, and as an aid to uniformity in description, four specimen collations are given on pp. xiv, xv.

My obligations for help of various kinds in the preparation of the List are very numerous. I must, in the first place, express my great indebtedness to Mr G. P. Johnston, our Honorary Secretary, who from the very beginning has taken a keen interest in the work, and it is in no small measure due to his active assistance in collecting titles and his stimulating encouragement that it has reached its present stage. In the printing of the List especially, his help, counsel, and unwearied patience have been of the greatest value. My obligation to Mr J. P. Edmond is also of a special nature, for not only has he made many additions to the List, but he has most generously allowed me to make the fullest use of the Annals of Scottish Printing and of his Aberdeen Printers. For the continuous and substantial help which Mr William Cowan has given me in many ways throughout the work I am very grateful. Mr W. Rae Macdonald at the commencement kindly handed over to me a set of cards containing titles of books falling within the scope of the List, extracted from the catalogue of the Advocates Library and from the British Museum catalogue of English Books to 1640. Mr J. T. Clark most kindly gave me both personal assistance and special facilities for examining the treasures under his custody, and I have pleasure in acknowledging similar help from Mr A. W. Pollard at the British Museum. To Lord Crawford, through the kind offices of Mr Edmond, I am indebted for the opportunity of seeing many scarce books in the Haigh Hall Library. In addition to sending me notes of books, Mr R. A. Scott Macfie and the Rev. John Sturrock were good enough to lend me a number of volumes for personal examination. I am also under obligation to Lord Rosebery, Mr P. J. Anderson, Mr E. Gordon Duff, Mr J. A. Fairley, Dr Jenkinson, Mr W. B. Wilson, and other members of the Society. It should not be forgotten that to the late Dr T. G. Law, whose helpful counsel is now alas! but a pleasant memory, is due the credit of having initiated the undertaking. For information and assistance from outside the membership of the Society I am indebted to the Rev. J. B. Craven, Mr Charles Sayle, and other friends, and also to the custodians of various libraries who have kindly replied to my inquiries. Indeed, the invariable courtesy and kindness with which my applications for aid and information have in every instance been met, has been an exceedingly pleasant experience. I must in conclusion express an appreciative acknowledgement of the patience and care which the printers have bestowed upon what must, I fear, have proved a troublesome piece of work.

II. ALPHABETICAL LIST.

Academiae Typographus, Edinburgh. 1697
See no. 3655; printed by the Heirs and Successors of A. Anderson (q.v.).

Aitken, William, bookbinder. 1687
Edinburgh. Named cautioner in the confirmation of Gideon Shaw's will. [Bann. Misc. ii. 294.]

Alexander, bookseller. 1536
A letter from Alesius, at that time in London, was 'sent by his countryman Alexander a bookseller, to Æpinus at Whitsuntide,' 1536. [Letters & Papers. Henry VIII., Vol. xi. 79.]

Alexander, James, bookseller. 1681
No. 2316 bears the imprint 'Edinburgh, Printed for James Alexander. 1681.'

Allan, Robert, bookseller. 1695-96
Edinburgh, 'at his shop over foregainst the Court of Guard.' Nos. 3453, 3577 in the List.

Anderson, Andrew, printer. 1653-†1676
Edinburgh, 1653-57.
Glasgow, 1657-61.
Edinburgh, 1661-76, 'his House, on the north side of the Cross.'

Son of G. Anderson (q.v.). Succeeded Heirs of G. Anderson in 1653. Removed to Glasgow about July 1657, by invitation of the Town Council, who offered him a yearly pension of 100 marks. Returned to Edinburgh in the summer of 1661, and on 10 June 1663 was appointed printer to the town and college, in place of G. Lithgow, deceased. It is probable that, like his Heir, he had accommodation for his printing office within the college. In 1671 obtained gift of king's printer for 41 years, and took into partnership in this gift G. Swintoun, J. Glen, T. Brown, and D. Trench (see Anderson, A., and his partners). Died in June 1676. Wife, Agnes Campbell (see Mrs. Anderson); son, James (q.v.). Inventory (Bann. Misc. ii. 282) names several booksellers among the debtors. For broadside elegy on him (omitted from the List), see EBS. i. 8. 5. Succeeded by Heir of A. Anderson. A considerable portion of his type and ornaments had been in use in Edinburgh by a succession of previous presses, and are in a much worn condition. His productions, and those of his successors, are among the poorest and most slovenly that proceeded from the Scottish press. 93 entries in the List, 1653-76. [Watson 11. Chalmers 100. Lee 116; App. xxiv, xxvii, lvii, lviii. Burgh Records Soc.: Glasgow 1632-62, pp. 348, 371, 372, 378, 463, 469. EBS. i. 8. 5.]

See also the three following entries.

Anderson, A., and his partners, printers. 1671-75
Edinburgh. This is the copartnery of Andrew Anderson with G. Swintoun, J. Glen, T. Brown, and D. Trench, in the gift of king's printer which Anderson obtained in 1671. They printed under the style of 'His Majesties Printers' 1672-75, and 'Andrew Anderson and his partners' 1675. Watson (p. 12) says that on Anderson's death (1676), 'After printing of one small bible by the Widow and Partners in company, they disagreed; the Booksellers apprehending themselves to be wrong'd...all of them sold off their shares of the house and gift to Mr Anderson's widow, except George Swinton.' 19 entries in the List, 1672-75. [Lee, App. xxiv, xxvii. Ab.P. xlvii.]
See also Trench, David.

Anderson, Heir of A., printer. 1676-1694
Anderson, Heirs of A. 1680-1700
Anderson, Successors of A. 1693-1694
Anderson, Heirs & Successors of A.

(1690?) 1694-1716

Edinburgh, 'his house, over-against the north-side of the Cross'; 'at the Printing House in Edinburgh Colledge' (1693).

After the death of A. Anderson (q.v.) in 1676, his widow (see Mrs. Anderson) conducted the business in conjunction with, or on behalf of, his son and heir, James (q.v.), under the above styles, and continued to exercise the offices of king's printer, and printer to the town and college. Mrs. Anderson came into frequent conflict with the other printers and booksellers in her vigorous and oppressive endeavours to enforce the monopoly conferred by the gift as king's printer (see Lindsay and his partners; J. Reid; R. Sanders; J. Watson, yr.). In 1690 she made an unsuccessful attempt, in opposition to Mosman, to obtain the appointment of printer to the General Assembly, but in 1712 succeeded Mosman in this office (see no. 3100 in the List). 960 entries in the List: Heir (660) 1676-94; Heirs (36) 1680-82, 1694-99

Successors (10) 1693-94; Heirs & Successors (254) 1690, 1694-99. No. 2703 was also from this press.
[Watson 12. Chalmers 100. Lee 149, 159, 167, etc.; App. xxv, xxvi, xxix. Spott. Misc. i. 305. Fountainhall. Ab.P. lii. EBS. i. 2. An Historical Relation of the late Gen. Assembly. Lond., 1691. p.60.]

Anderson, Mrs., printer. 1676-1716
Edinburgh. Agnes Campbell, wife of A. Anderson (q.v.). After her husband's death in 1676, she conducted the business (see Heir of A. Anderson). By November 1681 she had married Patrick Telfair, a merchant in Edinburgh. Died 24 July 1716. Inventory (Bann. Misc. ii. 284) names as one of the executors 'Mr John Campbell, corrector of the said defunct her press.' No. 2299 in the List has the imprint 'Printed by the Relict of Andrew Anderson, Printeress to his most Sacred Majesty.' [Watson 12. Fountainhall i. 337. Ab.P. lii. EBS. i. 2.]

Anderson, George, printer. 1637-1647
Edinburgh, 'in King James his College,' 1637-38. Glasgow, 'in Hutshisons Hospitall,' in the Trongate, 1638-47.
Commenced printing in Edinburgh in 1637. In the autumn of 1638 removed to Glasgow, apparently by invitation of the Town Council, and was the first printer there. Died in 1647, and was succeeded by the Heirs of G. Anderson. Son, Andrew Anderson (q.v.). He seems to have acquired a considerable part of Young's type and ornaments when the latter gave up his Edinburgh office in 1638; these include several formerly used by Waldegrave and Finlason, among them Ross' two devices. 34 entries in the List, 1637-47. [M'Ure, 368. Burgh Records Soc.: Glasgow vols. Wm. Stewart: Early Glasgow Printers (Glasgow Herald, 11. iv. 03).]

Anderson, Heirs of G., printers. 1648-53
Glasgow, 1648.
Edinburgh, 1649-53.
On the death of George Anderson in 1647 the Town Council of Glasgow agreed to continue his subsidy to his widow and children so long as they should carry on printing in the city, but in 1649 they had removed to Edinburgh, and in 1653 were succeeded by Andrew Anderson. In imprint of no. 1440 they are styled 'Academiae Edinburgensae Typographi.' Printed for R. Brown, Company of Stationers, A. Wilson. 16 entries in the List, 1648-53. [See Anderson, G.]

Anderson, James, printer. 1676
Edinburgh. Son and heir of A. Anderson.
See Anderson, Heir of A.

Anderson, James, stationer. c. 1679
Edinburgh. Will registered 1 July 1679. [Bann. Misc. ii. 296.]

Andrew, John, bookseller. c. 1676
Glasgow. Named among the debtors in Andrew Anderson's inventory (1676). The 'John Andrew, in Glasgow,' mentioned in Lithgow's inventory (1662) may be the same. The will of Bessie Sheills, his widow, was registered 27 Dec. 1689. [Bann. Misc. ii. 283, 280.]

Andrewes, 'a Scottishman,' mentioned as Vautrollier's servant, in London. 1583. [Huguenot Soc. x. ii. 355.]

Arbuthnet, Alex., printer. (1574:) 1579-1585
Edinburgh, 'dwelling at ye Kirk of Feild.'
In 1574-5 undertook, with Bassandyne, the printing of the first bible in Scotland (no. 154). Appointed king's printer, 24 Aug. 1579. Died 1 Sept. 1585. Wife, Agnes Pennycuik; children, Alesone, Agnes, Thomas, George, and John. Device (2 sizes): 'Pro lege rege et grege.' Initial letters afterwards used by Waldegrave, and then by Finlason, who also used the smaller device and other ornaments. 6 entries in the List, 1579-84. [DE. 312.]

Arisone, Andrew, printer. 1600
Edinburgh. Witness to baptism of a daughter of Patrick Johnstoun (q.v.). [Scottish Antiquary, v. 90.] Possibly the same as Andro Aysoun (q.v.).

Auld, William, bookbinder. 1684
Edinburgh. Named cautioner in the confirmation of the will of John Calderwood (q.v.). [Bann. Misc. ii. 292.]

Aysoun, Andro, printer. 1593
Edinburgh. Catherine Norwell, wife of Robert Smyth (q.v.), left 'to Andro Aysoun, prentar, thrie merkis.' Aysoun may have been one of Smyth's workmen, and was possibly the same as And. Arisone (q.v.). [DE. 479.]

B., P., Enginier. See Bruce, Peter.

Bassandyne, Thomas, printer. (1564:) 1568 (?) - 1577
Edinburgh, 'in the Nether Bow on the south side of the gait.'
Said to have worked in Paris and Leyden before commencing business in Edinburgh. In March 1564 John Scot's confiscated 'irnis' were delivered to Thomas Bassenden by order of the town council of Edinburgh. It seems probable that Bassandyne did not begin to print until 1571-2, and that Scot printed

- for him before that date. In 1574-5 undertook, with Arbuthnet, the printing of a folio edition of the bible (no. 154). Died 18 Oct. 1577. One child, Aleson. His widow, Catherine Norwell, afterwards married Robert Smyth (q.v.). Inventory (Bann. Misc. ii. 191 and DE. 292) mentions 350 different works. Device: John Crespin's anchor with initials T B. 10 entries in the List, 1568-78. [DE. 273. EBS. i. 15, 17, 22.]
See also Kerknnett, Salomon.
- Beiglie, Mrs., bookseller. 1696
 Edinburgh, 'in the Parliament Closs.'
 One entry in the List, no. 3565.
- Bell, James, stationer. 1676

In October 1687 he took over James Watson's press in Holyrood Palace, and in December of the same year was appointed royal printer in succession to him. His printing house was wrecked by the mob which broke into Holyrood on 10 Dec. 1688, and Bruce himself was imprisoned till June 1689. Watson states that his printing materials were sold to the Society of Stationers. His paper mill at Restalrig was acquired by James Hamilton in 1690. The imprints of his books usually run: 'Holy-Rood-House, Printed by Mr P. B. Enginier, Printer to the Kings Most Excellent Majesty, for his Houshold, Chappel, and Colledge.' 21 entries in the List, 1688 and no. 2927. The Dutch-men's names were Josuah van Solingen and Ian Colmar. Mr Cairns dying in a short time after they came here, the Dutch-men kept the house a-going, and printed the folio Acts of Parliament [no. 2243]...This printing-house, becoming at last the Dutch-men's in property; and Mrs Anderson endeavouring to stop their working by her gift; David Lindsay, merchant in Edinburgh, obtain'd a gift from King Charles II...and for his protecting them with his gift, they give him a share of their printing-house: he and they printed several books very neatly, under all their Names...And at last the Dutch-men purchased Mr Lindsay's gift, and bought back his share of the printing-house. These Dutch-men falling into very considerable debts by the purchasing of this printing-house, and the ill payment of most of their employers; James Watson [q.v.]...paid money for them...and they made over the printing-house to him"—and seem to have entered into his employ (EBS. vi. 85). The printing privilege prefixed to the Acts (no. 2243), renews to David Lindsay as undertaker and John Cairns as printer, the privilege granted to Sir Thomas Murray in 1679; it was confirmed by the Privy Council, 31 March 1681. 4 entries in the List, 1682-4. Stationers, Company of. 1650
No. 1415 was 'Printed at Edinburgh by the Heires of George Anderson, for the Company of Stationers.' No. 1636 was probably a similar combination, and distinct from the Society of Stationers.

Stationers, Society of, printers. 1660-90
Edinburgh, 'in Harts Close over against the Trone Church' (1690).

This press appears to fall into two periods:

First period, 1660-71. Succeeding Higgins (q.v.). This seems to be the Stationers' Company of London. Watson (p. 10) states that 'Tyler made over his part of the forfeited gift to some Stationers at London, who sent down upon us Christopher Higgins and some English servants with him...After he died, these London Stationers appoint Patrick Ramsay, a Scots-

Man to be Overseer of that house...but the masters living at a distance, and the work coming to no account, they sold this printing-house to several booksellers [probably, Swintoun, Glen, and Brown (q.v.)] at Edinburgh, who, in a little time after, did divide and set up distinct houses.' Arber (Stationers' Registers, v. xlvii) says that the Company 'held for some years a patent for printing in Scotland, granted by the Scotch Parliament. This Scotch Patent...appears to have been abandoned in 1669, upon the death of Christopher Higgins, the Company's agent at Edinburgh, and the stock and plant sold there for £300'... Second period, 1689-90. Watson (p. 17) states that the printing house of Peter Bruce (q.v.) was sold 'to the Society of Stationers that had the Council-plea with Mrs. Anderson: They printed several school-books neatly enough, having some very good foreign workmen. These Stationers, in a short time, sold off their shares to George Mosman [q.v.], one of their number.' 40 entries in the List, 1660-71 and 1689-90.

Stewart, Robert, bookseller. 1676
Glasgow. One of the debtors in A. Anderson's inventory, 1676. The Robert Stewart in Glasgow, debtor to Lithgow (1662), is probably the same. [Bann. Misc. ii. 283, 280.]

Story, John, printer. [1520?]

[Stranghan, David, printer.] 1659

Swintoun, George, printer and bookseller. 1649-78
Edinburgh, 'at the Kirk style, at the signe of the Angel' (1649); in the Parliament Yard (1667). Named among the debtors in Lithgow's inventory, 1662. Probably one of the booksellers who in 1671 acquired the business of the Society of Stationers (q.v.). One of A. Anderson's partners in the privilege and appointment as king's printer, 1671. In virtue of this partnership Swintoun styled himself 'one of His Majesties printers,' and his name as printer, alone and in partnership, is found in books from 1667 to 1678. His share in the gift of king's printer was purchased by R. Sanders about 1683. 7 entries in the List, nos. 1367, 1534, 1864, 1917, 2060, 2070, 2133. [Watson, 12-13. Lee, App. xxiv. Swintoun, G., and J. Glen. 1656-74
Edinburgh. 10 entries in the List, nos. 1541, 1830, 1841, 1854, 1862, 1887, 1895, 1898, 1920, 2013.

Swintoun, G., J. Glen, & Th. Brown. 1671-76
Edinburgh. These appear to be the booksellers who in 1671 purchased the printing house of the Society of Stationers (q.v.). They were jointly concerned in the publication of no. 2132-3, and in April 1677 were granted the exclusive right of printing it for 19 years; some copies probably bear Glen's name in the imprint. 6 entries in the List, nos. 1921, 1949, 1963, 1983, 1990, 2073. See also under their separate names.

Symson, John, bookseller & binder. 1592-1604
Edinburgh. One of the complainers, 2 Feb. 1592, against John Norton (q.v.). John Symson is named among the debtors in E. Cathkin's inventory, 1601. 'Johne Symson, buikbinder,' was a debtor to Jonet Mitchelhill, wife of A. Hart, 1604. [Lee, App. lxxi. Bann. Misc. ii. 231, 239.]

Trench.

Tyler, Evan, printer.

(1637:) 1642-†1682

Edinburgh, 1642-51.

Leith, 1651-52.

Edinburgh, 1660-72.

An Englishman. Appears to have been in charge of R. Young's Edinburgh business in 1637. On 1 July 1639 he took up his freedom of the Stationers' Company of London, and in 1641 returned to Edinburgh in partnership with Young. In the following year Young's name dropped out of the imprints and Tyler continued the style of king's printer. In 1651 he moved to Leith, but seems to have returned to London in 1652-3, being succeeded in Leith by C. Higgins (q.v.). Watson's statement, which requires some modification, is, that Tyler 'having printed for the usurper against the king, was justly forfeited at Scoon, and declar'd a rebel by King Charles II. Anno 1650, and so left this kingdom: and Duncan Mond, stationer in Edinburgh, had a gift of King's printer conferr'd on him, which entirely cut off Tyler...But the usurper still prevailing, Tyler made over his part of the forfeited gift to some Stationers at London, who sent down upon us Christopher Higgins and some English servants with him.' At the restoration Tyler once more returned to Edinburgh, resumed the style of king's printer, and printed there from 1660 to 1672, when he finally left Scotland, and A. Anderson succeeded him as royal printer. Died 5 Dec. 1682. 365 entries in the List, 1641-52 and 1660-72. Nos. 2220, 2357 are probably fictitious imprints similar to nos. 3797, 3798.

Colmar (see Lindsay, D., and his partners) and occupied the same premises in the Grassmarket, though no book of Watson's with this imprint has been found. In February 1686, his premises having been broken into by the populace and his workmen (including Thomas Noble) ill-treated, he was taken under royal protection, and his press set up in the precincts of Holyrood Palace. He was also appointed printer to his Majesties Royal Family and Household, and granted other privileges. Son, James Watson, yr. (q.v.). Edinburgh. A London printer who, on 12 April 1632, was appointed king's printer for Scotland in succession to T. Finlason (q.v.). Acquired the plant of Finlason's Heirs, and commenced printing in Edinburgh in 1633. Apparently did not come to Scotland himself, but sent Evan Tyler (q.v.) to manage his Edinburgh office. In 1638, after the Prayer Book troubles, he gave up his Edinburgh business and sold off the printing materials, some of which were afterwards used by G. Anderson and by R. Bryson. Several of his productions about this date, bearing his imprint as 'His Majesties printer for Scotland,' without place, were not printed in Edinburgh, but at his London office. Nos. 950, 951 are probably of London origin also, and perhaps should not have found a place in the List. Young's name again appears in Edinburgh in 1641, in partnership with Tyler (see Young and Tyler), and his name also occurs alone in the same year. In his first press (1633-38) the type and ornaments are almost entirely those of Finlason. 36 entries in the List, 1633-41. [Watson, 9. Lee, App. xxiii. Spott. Misc. i. 297. Reg. Great Seal of Scot. 1634-51, p. 353. Baillie, 436, 439; ii. 475. Arber, iv. 35.]

Young, R., and E. Tyler, printers. 1641-42
Edinburgh. Appointed king's printers 30 June 1641, in succession to R. Young. This second press of Young's started with a stock of type and ornaments entirely different to his first press, and new to Edinburgh. Succeeded by Tyler alone in 1642. 9 entries in the List, 1641-42. [Reg. Great Seal of Scot. 1634-51, p. 353. Lee, App. xxiii.]
